United Way to discuss Lincoln County's areas of critical need

United Way of Southwest Wyoming has set two meetings in November to further discuss Lincoln County's areas of critical need. Meetings are open to the public and everyone is encouraged to attend. The meetings will be held at Lincoln County Library, 519 Emerald Street in Kemmerer, November 2nd and 16th from 2:00 to 4:00 pm.

At a previous meeting volunteers identified areas of critical need in Lincoln County. Since the last meeting research has been conducted to better understand these areas. During the upcoming meetings volunteers will set Lincoln County's Agenda for Change, make plans and develop strategies to address the root causes of the critical areas. This agenda for change will guide United Way in its funding process as well as forming community partnerships. "In order to obtain these goals, simply raising money is not enough to create the long-lasting change that our community wants to see. We are forming collaborative efforts with those who can help implement a strategy for change," according to Kathy Tacke, Director of Community Impact for United Way.
