

For Immediate Release

Contact: Kelly Frink, (307) 362-5003, marketing@swunitedway.org

Community Investment Can Last Forever

Rock Springs, WY --- A free planned giving seminar will be offered on May 1, 2008 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. at a local restaurant located at 404 N St. in Rock Springs. This non-solicitation seminar is hosted by Memorial Hospital Foundation, Rock Springs Area Community Foundation, Sweetwater One Public School Foundation, Sweetwater County Library Foundation, United Way of Southwest Wyoming, and Western Wyoming Community Foundation.

Speakers for the event will be Brad Radakovich, CPA, of Heyborne, Radakovich & Company; L. Galen West, principal and founder of the law firm Bussart, West & Tylerm P.C., and John J. Majhanovich, ChFC, an agent for New York Life Insurance Company.

"A planned gift is a charitable contribution that is incorporated into your financial, tax or estate plan. There are a number of different ways that an individual can donate to their community while increasing their income, reducing their taxes and still making a difference in Sweetwater County," said Suzanne Zutter, Executive Director of United Way of Southwest Wyoming.

"The collaboration of foundations was formed so that we might educate people on how they can provide for their family today and their community tomorrow," said Paula Wonnacott, Chair of the Rock Springs Area Community Foundation.

For more information you can contact the United Way of Southwest Wyoming office.

###